GOLD was heavy in New York yesterday selling down to 112 1/2, the ruling rate being 112 1/2.

TENNESSEE BONDS closed in New York last evening at 74 for the old issue, and 74 1/2 for the new.

THE TULLOCHS Independent, heretofore printed between Johnson and Johnson, has come out for the first time.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer insists that when Solomon said the way of the transgressor is hard, he did not look down the vista of time far enough for his vision to take in Cannon, Hartranft and other like political animals, or he would have made an exception.

OUR country of cavalry is detailed to guard eight hundred miles of our Rio Grande Mexican frontier. That fact is stated in the testimony taken before the Commissioners appointed to investigate the cattle stealing incursions of Mexicans into Texas. While the people of Texas are not in this respect in a condition, there has been no lack of troops to send into the South to arrest and drag wild men from their homes without "due process of law," and upon pretence that are a disgrace to any country.

MEMPHIS JOHNSON CLUB.
Our attention is called to the published resolution of a Johnson Club in Memphis, purporting to quote "language of the UNION AND AMERICAN after the dominion of Gen. Cheatham." The Johnson Club of Memphis is respectfully informed that the dominion of Gen. Cheatham, said "there seems to us and we believe to a majority of the Democracy of Tennessee, a peculiar fitness in the selection of ex-President Johnson at this time."

Monarchist..... $1,000
Harry Bassett..... $500
King Henry..... $500

THE RACE.
Monarchist went off first, King Henry second, Harry Bassett third, the latter being pulled to make a trailing race, something new for the "champion," as in all previous races he has made the lead as soon as a clear opportunity presented itself. Going around the upper turn Monarchist led five lengths, King Henry second, two lengths in advance of Bassett, who was around the lower turn Bassett shut up the daylight entirely between him and Monarchist. The pace up to this moment had been very slow, but when Bassett came up and made play Monarchist cut loose, and they came up the home stretch racing. Colonel McDaniel was on the track, one hundred yards from the judge's stand, as Bassett and Monarchist came up the home stretch yoked, Monarchist called to Roar, with a wave of his hand, to go on. Roar did go, and Harry Bassett, Monarchist, and as they passed under the string they were running very fast, Harry Bassett having his head in front, King Henry six lengths behind. The race was made in 1:52 1/2. Bassett and Monarchist then ran round the upper turn as if they meant business, Harry Bassett being in view all the way in front of Monarchist's nose. They came down and passed under the bluff in this way, and then circled around the hill out of sight for several seconds. When we saw them again they were clinched, and there was no difference between them. They were yoked together, and from the report of the judges, Harry Bassett was the victor. Harry Bassett only could be seen, Harry Bassett being on the off side of him. They rushed on and swung into the home stretch like a well-matched pair, Harry Bassett in the lead, and the crowd gazed in admiration of the great contest the horses were near the north end of the Grand Stand. Bassett had been on the outside all the way to this point, but now he suddenly relinquished his place at the head of Monarchist, and fell behind him and took the inside position in the rear. He was beaten at this moment, which, being seen by the stable boys and trainers, notice was given to the stand and the crowd by the yell and shouts of the ragged brigade, and in an instant every one was satisfied that Harry Bassett was no longer champion. Hayward, and the two horses were in the situation, immediately took Monarchist in hand, and passed the stand, on a strong gallop, making the stand in 1:47, the two horses being in 1:39 1/2, and then, taking an occasional look behind him, went on with the race, as Monarchist wanted to go without pressure, coming past the stand at the end of the mile one hundred yards ahead, the time being 5:03, and going on at a good exciting gallop for a couple of miles, when Harry Bassett, who had been in the lead, was shown any sign of lameness, the assertion of interest passed to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF WILLIAM H. SEWARD.
At the time that Payne entered the hallways with his son, Mr. Frederick Seward, he was lying upon his side, close to the edge of his bed, with his head resting in a frame which had been made to give him ease, and to protect his broken jaw from pressure. He was trying to keep awake, having been seized upon by a sick man's fancy, it was said, if he did not wake up with the lockjaw. He was brought to full consciousness by the scuffle in the passage-way, followed by the entrance of the assassin, and the cry of "Miss Ward!" "Oh! he will kill my father!" but he saw nothing of his assailant until a hand appeared above his head, and then his thoughts were, "What hand some cloth that overcoat is made of." The assassin's face then appeared, and the helpless statesman only thought: "What a handsome man!" Then came a sensation as of rain striking him smartly upon one side of his face and neck, then quickly the same upon the other side, but he felt no severe pain. This was the assassin's knife. The blood spouted, he thought: "My time has come," and, falling from the bed to the floor, fainted. His first sensation of returning consciousness was that he was drinking tea, and that it "tasted good." Mr. Seward was given him tea with a spoon. He heard low voices around him, asking and replying as to whether it would be possible for him to recover. He could not speak, but he saw the assassin's face, and that he was a handsome man. He saw the assassin's face, and that he was a handsome man. He saw the assassin's face, and that he was a handsome man.

QUEER CASES—Negroes Suing for the Right to Pay their Taxes.
WILMINGTON, Oct. 18.—A series of important trials were commenced in the United States Circuit Court here today. These trials are upon indictments against the county officials for preventing the assessment of colored voters under the act of Congress enforcing the Fifteenth Amendment. The first case taken up was that of the United States against Archibald Given, Collector of County Taxes, who is charged with neglect and refusal to receive taxes from five colored men residing in Wilmington, by this action and the further management of leaving their names off the assessment so that they could not pay their taxes, and were therefore, deprived of their votes. This trial will be concluded on Friday. Owing to the asserted fact that a large number of colored citizens have been fraudulently left off the assessment lists the case excites great interest.

THE TRIAL OF GIVEN.
The trial of Given began today with a verdict of guilty on five counts of the indictment, charging him with neglecting to receive taxes from five colored men, who were therefore, deprived of their votes. The trial will be concluded on Friday. Owing to the asserted fact that a large number of colored citizens have been fraudulently left off the assessment lists the case excites great interest.

WASHINGTON.

Bureau Estimate of the Cotton Crop.
The October Outlook.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—The following is a synopsis of the report of the statisticians of the Department of Agriculture upon the condition of the cotton crop in October.

The cotton prospect has undergone no serious change since the September report. Its condition is reduced from 91 in the first week of September to 82 in October. In October of last year the average was 78, which was a material reduction from the previous month. It will be seen that the condition is still placed higher than in the previous year, but that it is not so good according to our June returns was 13 per cent. greater.

The State averages are as follows: Virginia 87, North Carolina 80, South Carolina 86, Florida 75, Georgia 88, Alabama 82, Mississippi 75, Louisiana 72, Texas 85, Arkansas 70, Tennessee 80.

The long year of the cotton in the condition of cotton is perhaps more marked than usual. Of the two counties in Alabama producing most largely, both together yielding 100 per cent. more than the State Montgomery reports 100 and Dallas 60. In Georgia, Dawson, the first in amount of production, returns 100, while Sumter and Lee, both large producers, give only 76. In Mississippi a few prominent counties report a high condition—Washington 69, Madison 68, Warren 65 and Hinds 60, while Neshoba and Claiborne return 56. The President to-day appointed ex-Gov. Lucius Fairchild, Consul to Liverpool vice Thomas A. Dudley, resigned.

The Secretary of the Treasury has not yet commenced the preparation of his report on the finances, nor has he intimated to any person whomsoever what recommendations he intends to make.

A claim has been partly heard by the Southern Claims Commission. The claimant is Mrs. Anna Plumb, of Fairmount county, Va. The husband of the claimant was killed by the Federal army for many years a slaveholder of Virginia, who shortly before the war liberated all his slaves and provided for their education in Liberia. A large number of witnesses were examined.
